

Los

The Czars

You keep on pushing and youll get your answer
But it wont be the one you want it to be
I think its funny how we dont get storms around here anymore
And the rain, when it comes, it tastes like nothingI want you to remember me
For things I never did
'Cause no one in this world deserves
To see my happinessI know what its supposed to be like to be young
But it is not the way I thought it would be
My paranoia functioned like a broken mirror
To distort and destroy any clarity and whats moreI want you to give back to me
The child I never was
'Cause I believed what I was told
Like everybody does
