

Corners Without Exits (2006 Summer East Coast)

Hot Tuna

Well, you hoped the road you follow will lead you to the sea
And you hoped the time allows you to start to livin' free
But when the world is busy and the way is hard to see
When tomorrow comes will you remember? When the time you've got to wander is slippin' by your side
And the way you're tryin' to move into the future makes you slide
Into corners without exits 'til you're tryin' to find a ride
When tomorrow comes will you remember? Now don't you know the world don't care
Just what you're livin' through?
Its spinnin' just keeps takin' you for ride
Don't you know you've gotta keep on fightin' through?
Last frontier is lying deep inside Well, the last ship in the harbor is sailin' on the tide
And your papers are in order, so you'd better get inside
The broad horizon's ready and your world is open wide
When forever comes, you'll still remember

Songwriters

Kaukonen, Jorma Published by

Lyrics © Sony/ATV Music Publishing LLC

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>