The Different Ones

Number One Gun

Have you noticed what you started?

Does it matter who you are?

And these necessary movements

They just make you fall apart

And you try so hardIt's a game you play

When you're always second best

I've made the same mistakes

But all this is a message to the different ones

So take this for yourself this time You've been watching with your sore eyes

But all you know is lies

And it kills me every time

You complain about your life

That you're wasting time and you're standing stillIt's a game you play

When you're always second best

I've made the same mistakes

But all this is a message for the different ones

So take it for yourself this time again you'll find

That hope is standing on your sideI've seen days, I've seen days, I've seen better days

I keep thinking I'm falling, falling apart

I'm the same, I'm the same, I'm still the same

I keep asking myself if I'm ready to start

With giving till I'm happierIt's a game you play

When you're always second best

I've made the same mistakes

But all this is a message to the different ones

So take it for yourself this time again you'll find

That hope is standing by your side

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/