Queenfish

Emezie

I'm diving, I'm falling, I'm trippin' like Jack
I'm going for the sunken treasure, and I'm never coming back
I got the deep blue sea below me, and the devil up above and somewhere in between, I think I fell in love.

You see, I've never loved another
I'll never love above her
I've never seen Australia, but I think I'm going under down under, sinking in the fantasy, I'm going down so, if you see me drowning hold my nose and let me drown.

I'm going down.
Down.
Jump around.
To the sound.

You see, I'm looking for the Queen Fish,
maybe you have seen her.
She always steals the scene with a body that's obscener than the cutest of the cuties, flowing grace and beauty from the brain to the booty, the darling of the sea.

Now, I know I'm not the only fisherman who's ever tried to lure the Lady Queen Fish, and keep her fancy by his side but how I think about her all the time, it's tearing me apart and so, today the hunt begins: I'm off to capture Ladiy's heart.

Because, I've never loved another
I'll never love above her
I've never seen Australia, but I think I'm going under down under, I wonder why she wouldn't want to be with the one who loves her harder than the Great Coral Reef

I'm going down, to the bottom of the sea.
It's sea of love.
Come dive with me.
And, if I never, ever, ever leave this sea,
the water's warm. It's fine with me.

Thar she blows, oh my lady approaches,

swimming swimmingly and making me lose composure.
Caught unawares, man, I'm so unprepared, damn.
I could drop anchor with the weight of her stares, but what are the chances that my honesty entrances and enhances my advances with the threat of romance, or maybe perhaps that when she knows just what my stance is and exactly what my plan is, she'll go swimming away into the arms of another handsome underwater lover?
It seems that many fishermen have knocked upon her door
and, it seems that many sea men have crashed upon her shores allow me to recap for those at home keeping score:

We got the sea men from the east, the sea men from the west,
sea men from Australia, Thailand, and Budapest,
we got the sea men from Iran, Siam, Sudan, and Pakistan,
sea men from Bulgaria, Paris, and yeah, Japan.

But, still, I've never loved another
I'll never love above her
She takes away my oxygen, I think I'm going under Torn asunder, what a blunder. In all the seven seas you'll never find nobody better than me.

I'm going down, to the bottom of the sea.
The fantasy of love.
Come dive with me.
And, if I never, ever, ever leave this sea,
the water's warm. It's fine with me.

I'm going down, to the bottom of the sea.
The fantasy of love.
Come dive with me.
And, yes, I know there are other fish in the sea
she'll always be, a queen to me.

I'm going down, to the bottom of the sea.
The fanta-sea of love.
Come dive with me.
And, though she'll never find another catch like me,
it doesn't matter.
She's blind to me.

Lyrics Submitted by Vanessa Julia

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/