

The Alarming Sound Of A Still Small Voice

Saosin

I knew I never deserved you
I just felt so high inside
I move along, I shuffled in place
Then backhand and you're pulling me in Will I ever find anyone?
You make me feel
Like I've been lost somewhere
Now it's morning, so it's over, now it's over Am I right where I need to be
Or is this another distraction?
Is this how I'm supposed to feel?
I've been trying to wake you Is there a change you need to see
Or is this another disaster?
Tell me how I'm supposed to feel
I've been trying to wake you No, this is never what I wanted
Never what I thought I signed up for and I keep moving away
To the edge then I'll decide whether jump or stay asleep
Sometimes the leap of faith is all, faith is all we have Why won't you tell me? Am I right where I need to be
Or is this another distraction?
Is this how I'm supposed to feel?
I've been trying to wake you Is there a change you need to see
Or is this another disaster?
Tell me how I'm supposed to feel
I've been trying to wake you up
Why won't you wake up? Wake up, nobody's sleeping anymore
And I've had enough of the ground
Made my escape fell in love with the sound
And I'll pound my fists till you wake up
So why aren't you waking up? When the sun is coming out
When the sun is coming out
And I can't hide here anymore, no, no, oh no
When the sun is coming out Am I right where I need to be
Or is this another distraction?
Is this how I'm supposed to feel?
I've been trying to wake you Is there a change you need to see
Or is this another disaster?
Tell me how I'm supposed to feel
I've been trying to wake you up Why won't you wake up?
Why won't you wake up?

Why don't you wake me up?

Songwriters

Cove Reber;Chris Sorenson;Beau BurchellPublished by

HEWFRINGMUSIC Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>