

A Button on Your Blouse

Drowners

you watch me close like a prisoner only feed me bread and water cause i've got one last chance to hold you have you seen me in my prison clothes have you seen me in my why don't you just come around undo another button on your blouse these days you know I rarely leave the house and i hate the thought of you yeah i hate the thought of you missing out and there's barely a crease on my pillow cause in the (?) I sleep so shallow last chance (?) from the voice this is the last time i swear to never again never again well at least until tomorrow
why don't you just come around
undo another button on your blouse
these days you know I rarely leave the house
and i hate the thought of you
yeah i hate the thought of you missing out (x2)

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>