Regret

Truth Before Treason

I must go on
Even though it seems wrong
A change of pace made me who I am today
No sense of direction
Nothing to guide me home
Took the path less travelled - but it feels so cold

(Chorus) I thought I had come to my senses
I thought that life needed a change
Maybe I was wrong - I had to throw it all away
Time has lead me in this direction
I thought that it would be for the best
But for now, I wait

Maybe things will be better
When I adapt to the change
Maybe it's not so bad - it's just rearranged
As I regress, different feelings overwhelm me
I can't relive the past - where has it gone?

(Chorus)

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/