

My Collapsing Frame

Commander Venus

Would you do that
If it really meant
They would see you
And would be convinced
That you love me
And you didn't care
Who knew it? Please believe me
When I say it's true
I have never felt
As close to you, or anyone
As I do right now
And I'm begging you
Please don't leave yet And this moment's glass
In a fragile state
I've convinced myself
That it won't crack or break
Like a heart
In the winter When the air is cold
And your words, the same
I know them, I know them
I am broken, I am wounded
Watch as my fragile frame collapses
Collapses on me, on me
But it's not your fault
You never meant to hurt me
You hurt And when it's five a.m.
And you're too tired to ever sleep
Well there's no rest for the lonely
I hope I die in my sleep There's never been Such hopelessness
Or devotion, or devotion
Or devotion, what's devotion?

Songwriters

NANSEL/KASHER/OBERST/BOWEN Published by

Lyrics © Sony/ATV Music Publishing LLC

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>