Unspoken Words

Rose Cora Perry

I miss your face
I miss the shadow of my former self
I miss the way you taste
I miss that self-deluded little child I was

I long to feel your touch
I long to feel that rush again
I long to love that much
But I have no sense of it all

I had but one escape
To save myself from you and all this
I had one choice to make
Even though it tore me in two

Chorus: Those three words I wish I had said
Those three words I never meant to feel Those three words I tried so hard to deny (are left unspoken)

I cry so hard
I wish it didnâ€™t have to be like this
I fall with my head in my hands, my tears are streaming but I had to say goodbye

I know itâ€™s better this way even though it hurts so much inside
I know Iâ€™ll never be the one that you needed
And so wounded is my pride
