

New Realization

Sublime

The time has come to reach a new realization 'tween me and you
Time to clear the rumors, sensations, and things that just are untrue Well I thought I heard you behind me with a knife straight for my back
It's quite clear that I'm back in the swing of living
Although I might not be on the right track
Oh, thought I might drown but it's hard to keep good man down Downtown's where you'll find me, through some ill gotten' hand Although I never listen girl, I damn well understand
And you think, I'm so damn feeble
I can't see through your lies, you're just a crock of shit
With a pretty smile, and I refuse to compromise
Oh, don't give me such a heavy, heavy, heavy load You may hold some vision of truth, if truth can found in a lie
Maybe some grain of inspiration, for song that's deep inside
Oh, tears running down your face, just screaming look me in the eye
Well I'm looking straight at your twisted face
And it's enough to make me cry Oh, passions there for those who want to Pay the price of loving you in more ways than one Wrapped around your finger but I think my time has come
But I never can be too sure, 'cause I like to have a little fun
Oh, what fun it would be to blow my mind and fall into the sun A mind is a precious thing to taste

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>