Brace for Impact (Live a Little)

Sturgill Simpson

One day you wake up
And this life will be over
Every party must break up
For burdens to shoulder
We're dying to live
Living to die
No matter what you believe
And all of us cry
For the ones we must leaveSo go and live a little
It all turns brittle
The skin withers before your eyes
Make sure you give a little
Before you go to the great unknown in the skySome will beg for forgiveness
From someone above
For something they did
Someone they love
Some scream like a baby
Some go out crying
Some bid the world goodbye
And welcome to dieOh I can live a little
It all turns brittle
The skin withers before your eyes
Make sure you give a little
Before you go to the great unknown in the sky
