State of Grace

NoMeansNo

First I tolf to myself there was no more than the sound Of the wind through an open door, and if no one entered it was no crime ?at least it was none of mine, and all isaw I kept at bay, an empty heard in an emtpy space, there was no reason for me to live, I had nothing to give, nothing to giveI closed my eyes and to my surprise my heard was beating I was still alive
Was there really nothing I could do?
No, it can be true!
Ie been lying to myself, lying to myself for so long Ie been lying to myself, lying to myself
And it can go on Cause I lying in state, Ie been lying in a state of grace
I lying in state
Ie ben lying to myself and it can go onAt first I tried to blame the world for all evils That were unfurled, flags of sin blowing in the Wind over church and state, the rich and the Great, but when I listened all I really heard was My own voice and my own words, sometimes Begging for love, sometime screaming with hate, screaming with hateI don trust that voice in my head, it not mine it the voice of the dead
And why do you ask me what I think is true?
I learned it all from you!
Ie been lying to myself, lying to myself for so long Ie been lying to myself, lying to myself and it can go on Cause I lying in state, Ie been lying in a state of grace
I lying in state
Ie lying to myself and can go onIn the end, you are my only friend and all I see is you, and all I have to give, my friend, I will give it to you.
Who do I mean? Who am I talking to?
How could it be more plain to you? Wake up.
Look in your heart. Who are you? What is your name?If I take a shit in your perfect world it only so
Youl know me by my smell
And though you turn away like you don understand
You know all too well
You don want to look, you don want to touch
You don want tp pay cause it costs so much
You just smile and wish me well
Well, you can go to hell!

Cause I lying in state, Ie been lying in a state of grace
I lying in state
Ie lying to myself and can go on
