

Where We Started

Dinner and a Suit

Waiting for the right time, to say the wrong thing.
Staring at the night sky, watching airplanes.
Pretending all our problems, would wash away like jetstream clouds.
we'll be on our way when the smoke clears out.
take me back to where we started, i'm afraid i've lost it all.
wasted all my second chances, how far does forgiveness last?
oh dear, lets take a picture, lets make this one last.
so when storms surround us, we'll have our past.
losing sight of, what we tried so hard to find.
as we race forward, the good gets left behind.
take me, back to where we started, because i'm afraid we've lost it all.
wasted all my second chances, how far does forgiveness go?
since our departure, you've seen our decent.
without forgiveness, we will meet our endddd.

take me back to where we started, cause i'm afraid i've lost it all.
wasted all my second chances, how far does forgiveness gooooooooooooooooooo.?
