Stuck In My Teeth

Circa Waves

I swear to god I'm not the same
As I was the other week
I got you stuck in my teethAnd though you take me for a fool
I've got better things to do
Then to prove myself to youBut you know I won't get back on
That road end is too long
Another year with no strings
But it's fineI'm a little too young with not enough time
I'm a little too young with not enough timeI woke up half the man I was Fingers burnt down to the bone
Conversations on my ownIf I could take me in, I would
And contradict the batting good
And find myself a brand new homeBut you know I won't get back on
That road end is too long
Another year with no strings
But it's fineI'm a little too young with not enough time
I'm a little too young with not enough timeI'm a little too young with not enough time
I'm a little too young with not enough timeI'm a little too young with not enough time
I'm a little too young with not enough timeI'm a little too young with not enough time
I'm a little too young with not enough timeI'm a little too young with not enough timeBut you know I won't get back on
That road end is too long
Another year with no strings
But it's fineI'm a little too young with not enough time
