

Dionne

Prince

Well, Dionne
You should have held my hand
You should have let me be your manDionne
You should have closed your eyes
You should have held on with both hands to your prizeDionne
You should have let me down easy
If you had no plans to please me
DionneDionne
I could have been the one
I could have shown you the shelter reserved under the sunDionne, Dionne
I could have whispered your name
I could have whispered your name if only for funDionne
You should have let me down easy
If you had no plans to please me
Dionne, Dionne, DionneDionneDionne, Dionne
We could have shared a martini
We could have danced to Mancini till dawnDionne
I should have broke down and kissed you
I should have, I just miss you
