Another Sleep Song

Graham Nash

All I need is someone to awaken me
Much of me has gone to sleep
And I'm afraid to wake upShake me by the shoulder if I'm lying with you now
When I talk about the time I sleep away
When it's hard to face the dayWhen I think of all the love that's taken me
How much do I get to keep
And how much should I give up?Shake me by the shoulder if I'm lying to you now
I'm listening to the lies inside my head
Who can hurt you in your bed?Fear of other people is a thing I hate
I travel in a bubble and I can't relate
Something is happening to my head
I don't want to hurt you but I never heard a word you saidHas this empty hollow heart forsaken me?
I wonder if I'll ever get to feel like I did
Before I grew upShake me by the shoulder if I'm lying with you now
There is no time to waste another day
'Cause we watch them fly away
