In Your Eyes

Craig Lyons

I could've used your voice today
Couldn't find a word to say
Didn't know what song to sing
No advice worth following

In your lies I past the time
In your truth, you'd buried mine
In your empty house you wonder who

So you tell lies
And in your eyes
you dream without a reason

You realised
Apologised
you scream without the answer

Yesterday you hit the floor
Did it twice the day before
Can't remember what you say
Can't forget the clothes you wore

In your empty house you wonder who

So you tell lies
And in your eyes
you dream without a reason

You realized
Apologized
you scream without the answer

I could've used your voice today
Couldn't find a word to say
Didn't know what song to sing
No advice worth following

In your lies I past the time

In your truth, you'd buried mine
In your empty world remember who
