The Storm

Elenowen

Saddle up, baby, a storm is on
The horizon
The war in the distance is marching toward
Our back door
And you, you're all I haveTake my hand, baby, I'll lead the way
Don't be afraid
We'll walk through the valleys and through the fields
With our love as a shield
Yeah we will be all right
At least, at least in our mindsLove you will ever forgive me
If I slip and let you fall?
I'm not sure if I could catch you
'Cause I'm still learning how to loveHonestly, baby, I hate to say
That I am afraid
I have been following close behind
But I could be blind
Maybe we're each on our ownMy apologies, baby, I think I made
A mistake on the way
The war is closing in on us
What have we done?
We used to be so strong
Now things, things are all wrongLove will you ever forgive me
Now that I've slipped and let you fall?
I'm sorry I couldn't catch you
'Cause I was learning how to love
And I'm still learning how to loveSaddle up, baby, a storm is on
The horizon

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/