Exit

i wasn't much just a face in the hall that's all that i could ever be my mother said if she could she'd have known me but i got these kids to feed someone said to love what you got and always know there will be morei dont know i dont carei stay up looking at old photos another late night company i see one of me and you there i wonder if i'm more complete who am i to love what i lost who am i to care at alli take walks to forget about my life i take walks that last all night i check myself out in store front windows half drunk and half insane it's just smoke that gets in my eyes it's just smoke that makes them redhey father father where you been for me a check and a letter sent to set my mind at easei don't know you i don't owe you nothing
