

The Day

The Black Angels

The Sun was shining across the field
Burning bright with all his might
In the shadows lingering
The Moon was looking so sadly
Why should he shine so bright?
The day is is old, and it's the night
No rain or storm could keep them from love, no
No rain or storm could keep them from love, hey
So the Moon across the field
She told the Sun "you'd better run, run, run
You'd better run, you'd better run
It's my turn Sun"
The day is through, it's time to start anew
The day is throughThen the night became as bright
Because the Moon gave her light
When the stars go join their friend
Then the day came to an end
It's all over, it's all over, it's all over
Another day, another nightThe day is through, it's time to start anew
And when the cycle ends another starts again
Someone's looking at the sunlight
Thinking that the moonbeams
Are better than sunshine
Someone's looking at the sunlight
Dreaming that their nightmares
Are better in the daytime
Wish it would start, wish it would start
Wish it would start, wish it would start
