

Two Kids

August Moon

Two kids fell in love for the first time, and planned out their lives

Two kids told each other simple little things that would warm their hearts

Two kids held one another and puckered their lips every time they wanted a kiss
They swore to each other, forever and ever, but never is anything good forever
Two kids broke the rules said they needed time, both packed their bags and waited for their ship to arrive

Two kids went their way found another life, filled that void with a curious state of mind

Two kids fell in love for another time and they wondered if this is right
They swore to each other, forever and ever, but never is anything good forever
If this is good bye, dry up those eyes, I can forgive you, I hope you forgive me

If this is good bye, love of my life, I can forgive you, I hope you forgive me
They swore to each other, forever and ever, but never is anything good forever
