Love Is Leaving

Boy George

There were times I knew But I found it hard to say You were special in my life Never thought you'd go away I'll be strong, I'll get by Without you in my life I can see through your lies Did you ever love me I never found your love You and I know, love is leaving And you don't want me anymore Why should I even try You and I know, love is leaving Now you're the last thing on my mind Someone else, I will find A memory, I've left behind If I ever made you cry Any reason I can't find It was lonely by your side Like a fool I stood by you I'll be strong, I'll get by Without you in my life I can see through your lies Did you ever love me I never found your love You and I know, love is leaving And you don't want me anymore Why should I even try You and I know, love is leaving Now you're the last thing on my mind Someone else, I will find A memory, I've left behind Is there something I could do Is there something I should say Is there someone else To keep me from the night You and I know, love is leaving And you don't want me anymore Why should I even try

You and I know, love is leaving And you don't want me anymore Why should I even try

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/