

Give Me Your Love

Frank Duval

Something strange was in the air when I woke up last night.
A special formed light and a far away voice was talking to me:

Give me your love
try to believe in feelings.

Give me your love
try to believe in me.

Give me your love

time has a special valueA moment of love that's eternity.Give me your love

you'll find a door of glass and lightYou'll open it you'll leave the night

you'll never feel alone.

Give me your love

that's the sign for you to riseInto a new dimension of life

give me your love.

The voice strange and light faded away when dawn came

And left me behind with these words in the air:Give me your love you'll find a door of glass and light
