Everything Has Changed

Lucinda Williams

I can't feel my love anymore I can't feel my love anymore Mystery and the splendor dont thrill me like before I can't feel my love anymoreI dont wanna talk to anyone I dont wanna talk to anyone All the words that used to work have melted in the sun And I dont want to talk to anyoneFaces look familiar but they dont have names Towns I used to live in have been rearranged Highways I once traveled down dont look the same Everything has changed, everything has changedI cant find my joy anywhere I cant find my joy anywhere All the magic vanished into the misty air And I cant find my joy anywhereAnd now I dont know where my faith has gone Now I dont know where my faith has gone From the wonder I had a sense of to the brightest star that shone And now I dont know where my faith has goneFaces look familiar but they dont have names Towns I used to live in have been rearranged Highways I once traveled down dont look the same Everything has changed, everything has changed
