Below the Hurricane

Blitzen Trapper

Hey babe, don't you know it's all the same
Hey babe, don't you know it's all the same Heaven's right below the hurricane Heaven's right below yeahTouching down, I see the lights Taxi drive through rainy nights Finger ride on window pane That heaven's in a hurricaneHey babe, don't you know it's all the same Heaven's right below the hurricane and Hell's contained in every single flame but Heaven's right below yeahDriving up through trees so bare I know you're here but I don't know where World is wide and waiting there Stop to rest at rivers edge Your cigarette is burning red
And if hell's in every single flame Then Heaven's in a hurricaneShe said I think I'm still asleep at the wheel you can say anything you want I sense your eyes conceal the things that you steal from the man who has let you downShe said I toss and I turn in dreams I discern setting shapes coming through the trees I said your eyes may believe but the heart will deceive let us run while we're young and free
