

Connect the Dots

Over It

a purple sunrise starts this long day we must be on our way to some place new on our way to some place wed never thought wed stand its easy to sit back in this place and close my eyes to see your face but sometimes blurry, that was last spring and now the leaves we shared fall down its been 6 months since we were last along i hope someday you write and say i wish this wasn't so because i swear we said that we would never let this go and now we're all alone guess i'll have to spend these days all alone but im not ready to let you go just dont have the strength to let you go i just dont want to look back and say that all i needed now was right in front of me

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>