

Tony Zoulias (Lustful Life)

Mando Diao

[Foreign content] I had a heart attack
And boy, it brought me back
To where I was before
I started to believe in myself I didn't need no gun
I didn't need no sword
I didn't even know the meaning
Of the terrible war I didn't need you
And you didn't need me
Now it don't matter what you told
My God, you sold your soul And if you ever see me without home
You know that's 'cause I want it so
I just like to live a little lustful life And if it's lightning on a sunny day
You know that's 'cause I want my way
I just like to live a little lustful life
Live a little lustful life, to live a lustful life Oh, I didn't need no fun
I didn't need no cunt
To tell me when to leave my door
In the morning sun 'Cause I know where it's at Yeah, I know where it's at
It's up to every little fellow
Down to every cat You never need me and I never need you
Now it don't matter what you told
My God, you sold your soul And if you ever see me without home
You know that's 'cause I want it so
I just like to live a little lustful life And if it's lightning on a sunny day
You know that's 'cause I want my way
I just like to live a little lustful life
To live a little lustful life, to live a lustful life 6,000 ways to die, choose one 6 million ways to tell a lie
Say hello to my little friends And if you ever see me without home
And if you ever see me without home
And if you ever and if you ever
And if you ever see me without home And if you ever see me without home
You know that's 'cause I want it so
I just like to live a little lustful life Hey and if it's lightning on a sunny day
You know that's 'cause I want my way
I just like to live a little lustful life
To live a little lustful To live, to live
And to die, and to die

And to live, and to live
And to die, and to dieAnd to live, and to live
And to die, and to die
And to live, and to live
And to die, and to die, and to die

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnllyrics.com/>