Walls of Jericho

it's time to take back your life so what if we showed an unbuttoned smile could it break the lock to our true thoughts of insecurities we never speakhow about we love ourselves without underlying hatred respect for one another, no batle scars told that means friends are not come and go no overwhelming dramatic ending we will try to kill it fighting we will turn our ownwe will try, we will try, we will try, it's time to start the change, what do you say our lives at stakeso raise your glass up high we're through with bitter alibis here's to new beginnings that need no fixing first here's to a romantic life of bittersweet compromise a lifetime full of endings that smile at what were worthshout out how you feel, listen to yourself throw away pieces your unresolved crash course will depend on me, reckless with purpose work towards living a life worth living righthere's to new beginnings for what its worth
