Typical

Kevin Sharp

Throw away the book, forget about the rules
Set aside your doubts, they don't apply now
Everything you know, all that's gone before
Ain't what we're about, it's here and right now
Compared to any other love, baby this is way more
Beyond the physicalThis ain't your typical, predictable
Here today and gone tomorrow fling
It's more of a magical, mystical
Once in every lifetime thing
It may sound improbable, it ain't logical
But when love is this undeniable
It's everything and it's anything but typicalJealousy and pride, all that petty stuff
Trips the others up, with us there's no way
We can rise above, go against the gray
We'll be strong enough, to make our own way
The future that I'm seeing, ain't a paint by numbers picture
It's an originalThis ain't your typical, predictable
Here today and gone tomorrow fling
It's more of a magical, mystical
Once in every lifetime thing
It may sound improbable, it ain't logical
But when love is this undeniable
It's everything and it's anything but typical
