

Redneck Games (with Alan Jackson)

Jeff Foxworthy

Greetings yall

And welcome all you danged foreigners from other nations

Dear Lord be with our guests and prepare them

For the butt whopping they are about to receiveThe Olympics in Georgia

God you know were gonna screw that up

I guarantee you

When they let those doves go at the opening ceremony

There are gonna be guys in the parking lot with shotgunsAnd we will not have a flame

That big without a pig on it, I guarantee

Some fat guy going

Danged good barbecue top of them stairs up there

They ain't got no hand rail be careful"Of all the games that the rednecks play

Theres some crazy events

If you know about the redneck ways

Then it makes perfect senseHell the Olympic rings will be five old tires nailed together

See thats my fear, theyre gonna get the list of events

They gonna have no idea what half this stuff is suppose to be

Like for fencing, theyll be giving people bailing wire and sheet metalThere probably have to cancel water polo after

The first two or three horses drown

I tell you instead of discus throwing

Theyll be flinging Ford hubcapsYou cant blame them for the way they are

But you can sit back and grin

'Cause theyll do something thats so bizarre

Youll want to see it againIf you could ever get into their minds

Theres no telling what you might find

They just do things in a different way

All the games that the rednecks playAnd you know they havent even thought about it

But the river theyre having the kayak races

On is the same river they filmed deliverance atThat ought to add a whole degree of difficulty shouldn't it?

'Cause if Ned Batty couldn't make it down

That thing a French man in a pair of biker pants ain't got a chanceBe prepared to watch the wildest show

Making her out in the line

You may not see them bringing home the gold

But theyll sure make mama proudIf you could ever get inside their minds

Theres no telling what you might find

They just do things in a different way

All the games that the rednecks playHey Ed, I got a white one
