

Strip Her Down

Cold

Do you want me to strip for you?Everybody played a game, how come you won't tell me the rules?

I'm tired of tryin' on a new skin, I never listen I'm a fool

And everybody ran away, how come you won't tell me where?

I guess I treated them too wrong

Now the sun don't shine on me an' now the rain won't even fallShould've stripped her down and made the world a mess for her

Never thought she could be this way

Should've stripped her down and ripped the world from under her

Never thought she could be this wayShould've stripped her down

Should've stripped her downNow that the love has gone too blind to see my way to live

I waste away from all the pain for you I'd kill myself again

I hope you get to play your games I hope you get to see your friends

I hope the guilt mixes the pain I hope you never love again

Strip strip strip strip stripShould've stripped her down and fucked the world all up for her

Never thought she could be this way

Should've stripped her down and made the world a mess for her

Never thought she could be this wayShould've stripped her down

Should've stripped her downShould've stripped her down

Should've stripped her downStripShould've stripped her down

Should've stripped her down

Should've stripped her down

Should've stripped her downShould've should've should've should've should've stripped her down

[incomprehensible]

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>