City Song

Howard Jones

It was that night at nowhere
I saw you standing there
Darlin' you were hungry for life
An innocent in this landWhat is it about this city
That brings us all to life
Ten millions souls vibrating
They're shimmering in the nightYou mustn't think of staying
The price is more than you'd think
It's giving up the sweetest part of you
For this heartless prizeWhen does a vision of Heaven
Become a living Hell
Ten million souls vibrating
They're acting it out for realWhere do all the lonely people go
When they want some lovin'

Where do all the lonely people hide

When they feel like cryin'It was that night at nowhere

A cold glass in your hand

Darlin', you were angry with life

A prisoner in this landWhat is it about this city

That brings us all to life

Ten millions souls vibrating

They're shimmering in the nightWhere do all the lonely people go

When they want some lovin'

Where do all the lonely people hide

When they feel like cryin'Where do all the lonely people go

In this crowded city

Where do all the lonely people hide

There's no sanctuaryNowhere to run to, nowhere to hide

Nowhere to handshake, nowhere to smile

Won't you talk with me

Spend some time and give me lifeWhen does a vision of Heaven

Become a living Hell

Ten million souls vibrating

They're shimmering in the nightWhere do all the lonely people go

In this crowded city

Where do all the lonely people hide

There's no sanctuary A vision of Heaven

A vision of Heaven

In this crowded city

A vision of Heaven

A vision of Heaven

There's no sanctuaryA vision of Heaven

A vision of Heaven

In this crowded city

A vision of Heaven

A vision of Heaven

There's no sanctuary A vision of Heaven

A vision of Heaven

In this crowded city

A vision of Heaven

A vision of Heaven

There's no sanctuary

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/