

Honky Tonk Truth

Brooks & Dunn

I'm the life of the party
Baby, since you said goodbye
Just ask old Joe, he knows
I'm here every night And that good old boy in the mirror
Looking 'round for you
It ain't me
And that's a honky tonk truth That's a honky tonk truth
'Cross my broken heart
I put my right hand here on this beer
And swear on this bar I ain't thinkin', I ain't drinkin', I ain't cryin'
I ain't moanin' the blues
I wouldn't lie to you
Now that's a honky tonk truth Don't think I'll come crawlin' back
'Cause I don't miss you
If you walked up, puckered up, girl
I wouldn't bother to kiss you And that washed up, broke down fool
Hangin' out on that stool
Well it ain't me
Now that's a honky tonk truth That's a honky tonk truth
'Cross my broken heart
I put my right hand here on this beer
And swear on this bar I ain't thinkin', I ain't drinkin', I ain't cryin'
I ain't moanin' the blues
I wouldn't lie to you
Now that's a honky tonk truth Oh, that's a honky tonk truth
'Cross my broken heart
I put my right hand here on this beer
And swear on this bar I ain't thinkin', I ain't drinkin', I ain't cryin'
I ain't moanin' the blues
I wouldn't lie to you
Now that's a honky tonk truth I ain't thinkin', I ain't drinkin', I ain't cryin'
I ain't moanin' the blues
I wouldn't lie to you
Oh, that's the honky tonk truth
