Lamplight

Poor Bishop Hooper

Orphaned child or shadowed man
Your brow bright gold your birthright unknown
Do either know for what I wait
No neither know the hour

Oh lamp light stay by my tired side
I canâ€™t miss the new sun shining
When this night is finally done

A set trap sits in anxious pain
A balanced thirst with slight foretaste
As freedom seeks to be unleashed
Like a desert waits for water or the first man seeks his eve

Oh lamp light stay by my tired side
I canâ€™t miss the new sun shining
When this life is finally done

Donâ€™t be blind with worry or eye-closed sleep
For a noble thief lies in waiting
Two will slave and toil but only one remain
Alone he stands forever he will be

Oh lamp light stay by my tired side
I canâ€™t miss the new sun shining
When the morning finally comes
Oh lamp light stay by my tired side
I canâ€™t miss the new sun shining
When the glory finally comes
