

Cell

Drumkan

I want to flee
A pause from the dim
Where are the thought that I saved?
Trapped in an old silent filmThey runned the usual tests
    Tiny, tiny veins
    Yet flow so constant and strong
I saw my life in redThey'll never forget
    These cells of mine
    How can they forgive
That I figured the code they carriedI want to flee
    A pause from the dim
    He gave me a stone
    And I went to sleep
