

Beware of the Leopard

Mortimer Nova

of course we wear the branded a, we're nailed to a t you can only persuade me to do what i already want to so many memories of you under my sheets and i fight with a melee of repression uncomfortable rising to the surface to despising anxiety causes a breakthrough of impression you can't make me compromise anymore you can't trap and suffocate me anymore stop guessing, stop wondering anymore your halo will someday dissolve i always suspected we were never exclusive and i trusted as far as you'd let me you separated in july and let me in you no open legs are worth an execution you can't make me compromise anymore
you can't trap and suffocate me anymore
stop guessing, stop wondering anymore
your halo will someday dissolve i'll miss you zion your heart beats true of course we wear the branded a, we're nailed to a t you can only persuade me to do what i already want to do spoken: i keep playing the same movie over and over in mind watching you gasp for breath and fall back motionless and pale while the doctor took what i had made out of you it would have been a great day if it wasn't only 6 weeks old you can't make me compromise anymore
you can't trap and suffocate me anymore
stop guessing, stop wondering anymore
your halo will someday dissolve i'll miss you zion
your heart beats true

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>