

Kick the Bride Down the Aisle

Morrissey

Kick the bride down the aisle
And make no mistakeÂ
It's the best you can do for everyone's sakeKick the bride down the aisleÂ
And treasure the dayÂ
I know so much more than I'm willing to sayShe just wants a slaveÂ
To break his back in pursuit of a living wageÂ
So that she can laze and grazeÂ
For the rest of her daysÂ
Write down every word I sayKick the bride down the aisleÂ
In a mudslide of gloomÂ
She'll order you to tidy your roomKick the bride down the aisleÂ
Look at that cow in the fieldÂ
It knows more than your bride knows nowShe just wants a slaveÂ
To break his back in pursuit of a living wageÂ
So that she can laze and grazeÂ
For the rest of her daysÂ
Write down every word I sayYou're that stretch of the beachÂ
That the tide doesn't reachÂ
No meaning, no reasonÂ
The lonely seasonKick the bride down the aisleÂ
And treasure the day
