After the Snow

Dayle Stanley

The rhythm of the rain gives an off beat on the window pane
Like an angel crying from the skyI can see its beauty
After the snow
I can see its beauty
After the snowThe temperature's dropping rapidly
Normal service will shortly be resumedI can see its beauty
After the snow
I can see its beauty
After the snow
After the snowI stood and watched the dark sky rise
With glaring sunlights in my eyes
I thought of all the times gone by
And laughed aloud at the crimson skyAfter the snow
After the snow
After the snow
After the snowAfter the snow
There's something born
After the snow
There's something bornAfter the snow
There's something born
After the snow
There's something bornAfter the snow
After the snowThe rhythm of the rain gives an offbeat on the window pane
Like an angel crying from the skyI can see its beauty
After the snow
I can see its beauty
