Song For Someone

The Frames

Dryin' up in conversation, still
My head was halfway 'round the world
And workin' through the sleepin' hours
Driven by the promise of a quick return

And I wonder if she'll be the very same
And I wonder if she's gonna break the waves again

Tryin' just to focus on the good
I'm tired of divin' for the pearls
And every dawn is another morning less
I have to wait to wake beside that girl

And I hope she's gonna be the very same
And I hope she can survive this wave again

And if we're all for someone
And if we're born for someone
When will she come, that someone?
And put things in their place

Comin' back to see you girl
You know there's nothing surer in this world
Remember all the madden seasons
Back when we weren't old enough to wait our turn

And I hope we're gonna be the very same
And I hope we can survive this wave again

And if we're all for someone
And if we're born for someone
When will she come, that someone?
And put things in their place

Lyrics powered by lyrics.tancode.com

written by HANSARD, GLEN JAMES/MACCONIOMAIRE, COLM/DOYLE, JOSEPH PHILLIP/BOCHNIK, ROBERT

Lyrics Â© Warner/Chappell Music, Inc.

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/