

Now That I'm Real (How Does It Feel?)

Chad Valley

I only want to feel the cold light

Pretending that it's never over

I only wanna smile at your eyes

It doesn't help that I've never thought to go home
Now when something is building inside

Thinks I'm back I have it all the while

I wanna get up and shout
I knew this kid who wanted to find himself, in your arms

With a little luck we could owe it to ourselves, in the end

The time to finish is the time I need to dwell
I only feel there's something else I should've known, you know

Because I nearly didn't feel it at all, you know, it's so

And how does it feeeeeeel? Now that I'm reaaaaal?
