

Hurricane

Jason Falkner

You can tell the world
but it won't understand about all the flaws
in your master plan

Hopeless romantic,
where is your command?
All that you confused
became the truth

You've always invented
new ways to begin Disposable heroes,
they look just like friends
Now with your madness exposed in the end

You can tell your friends
You haven't been well
This life that you've chosen's
a season in hell
From mountain top
Such stories you tell

How all you confused became the truth for you Now it's time to decide:
Do you fly into the eye
of the hurricane?

Now you can tell yourself
You can always go home
And get back the things you lost so long ago Convince everyone
but inside you know that all defensive moves become the truth

All that you confused

became the truth
for you for you
for you for you
Now it's time to decide:
Do you fly into the eye
of the hurricane?

Lyrics Submitted by Richard Gagnon

Lyrics provided by <https://damnllyrics.com/>