

Madeleine

Backstreet Boys

Madeleine

What's up with those tears in your eyes

What happened when you shut down,

And all the amber lights turned into red

In the silence of your cave, you feel safe

You decorate it with velvet drapes

Outside you see the dark woods

But you don't know there's fields of gold ahead Hold on, don't let go

Hold on, you'll know

Help is on its way Rise up, rise up, rise up, Madeleine

The sun will come out again

Rise up, rise up, rise up, Madeleine

The summer will come and

Kiss you with honesty

Love you unconditionally

Trust you and let you breathe

Give you back your dignity

So rise up, rise up, rise up little girl

'Cause only you can Madeleine Oh Madeleine Remember when we used to sit and watch from the bridge

And wonder where the ships would go

Who was on and what they would find out

You wrote it in a notebook

And said someday that this would be a story to tell

And you'd put it in a movie, maybe be the movie star

Something stole your tears and wiped your smile away Hold on, don't let go

Hold on and you'll know

Help is on its way Rise up, rise up, rise up, Madeleine

The sun will come out again

Rise up, rise up, rise up, Madeleine

The summer will come and

Kiss you with honesty

Love you unconditionally

Trust you and let you breathe

Give you back your dignity

So rise up, rise up, rise up little girl

'Cause only you can Madeleine Let the sunshine warm your heart today

So rise up, rise up, rise up, Madeleine Rise up, rise up, rise up, Madeleine

The sun will come out again

Rise up, rise up, rise up, Madeleine

The summer will come and
Kiss you with honesty
Love you unconditionally
Trust you and let you breathe
Give you back your dignity
So rise up, rise up, rise up little girl
'Cause only you can Madeleine Oh Madeleine
Oh Madeleine
