

Carry Me Up To Smell Pine

Sin Fang Bous

(We put pants in your legs) (But may you walk?) For once I could have shared my own skin
And make it hard enough to believe
And you would, make it hard, to shake off your socks so Kiss you only when you're sleeping
Carry me up to smell pine Would oblong stems loom out and share my own skin
And make it hard enough to believe
And you, would make it hard to shake, off your sighs Touch you only to feel your back
Told you everything I shouldn't have For once I could have shared my own skin
And make it hard enough to believe
And you, would make it hard to shake, off your smile
