

Those Pale Eyes

Museum of Devotion

I don't know what's changing you thoughts of healing now they're gone, she's holding you I can see what's going on, your false facades are breaking down he's touching you.

Eva's sitting down in her chair she sees some space but now it's gone, it was never there.

arresting the garden where green is grey the plague says 1917, he looks away. heaven is waiting so let's depart he wants to hold you but missed the day you were never there Eva's sitting down in her chair, she wants to hold you but missed the day, she looked for you

those pale eyes
those pale eyes
