Words Are Words

Dan Smith

Some things in life are so serious
All you can do is laugh about them
Not sit and talk, debate about them Preach and rant, do nothing about themAll of your heavy discourse about cooperations into national relationships Getting off your high horse and laugh about something you like and you knowAnd you know
And you know
And you know
'cause you know you know
and you know
and you knowSome things in life are so serious
All you can do is laugh about them
Don't obfuscate correct about them Fashionable talk and mourn about themSome people la-la-life's serious
But it turns out that if you make it so just Live like you're gonna die tomorrow
And love like you're gonna live foreverForever Forever
Forever
'cause you know
you know
and you know
and you know
'causeYou were in that lecture, too
And you should remember that lecture, tooSome things in life are so serious
All you can do is laugh about them
'Cause words are words and don't affect them Just have a drink and laugh about themSome people la-la-life's serious
But it turns out that if you make it so just
Have a drink and laugh about it And take up something you like and you knowAnd you know
And you know
And you know
'Cause you know
You know
You know
And you know know know
'causeYou were in that lecture, too
And you should remember, that lecture, tooYou were in that lecture, too

And you should remember, that lecture, tooAnd you were in that lecture
you were soRemember the words he said to you to youYou were in that lecture, too
And you should remember, that lecture, tooYou were in that lecture, too
And you should remember, that lecture, tooAnd you know
And you know
And you know
And you know so so so Just take the piss and laugh and move on
