Mest

took a trip with your friends up to michigan but now you're back and everything's changed couldn't wait to get back 'cause you wanted to see her again why is it so different while you were gone all her thoughts somehow got rearranged why is it so strange she left you feeling all alone she left you feeling so cold ya never thought that she would leave you in this way and now you're all alone again why were you left astray to come forward and be a friend who will be the one when your lost where do you run are you looking for someone she left you feeling all alone she left you feeling so cold I couldn't believe it when I heard the news you wouldn't want to talk to a friend cause things changed in the end but such a friend I wasn't willing to lose to come to me you would refuse between us and a new crowd you had to choose I said I'd be there until the end cause I would do anything for a true friend... she left you feeling all alone she left you feeling so cold all alone
