

Stop

Matchbox Twenty

Yes, it's true that I believe
I'm weaker than I used to be
I wear my heart out on my sleeve
Wow, an' I forget the rest of me Yes, there's times I've been afraid
And there's no harm in that I pray
'Cuz I'm more frightened everyday
Someone will take the hope I have away But you gotta give it up
To get off sometimes
You gotta give it up
To get off sometimes
You gotta give it up
To get off sometimes I know But you gotta give it up
To get off sometimes
You gotta give it up
To get off sometimes
You gotta give it up
To get off sometimes I know All the times I've given in
You fit me like a second skin
An' one by one I will begin
To wear you on the days I'm feeling thin But you gotta give it up
To get off sometimes
You gotta give it up
To get off sometimes
You gotta give it up
To get off sometimes I know Hey, you gotta give it up
To get off sometimes
You gotta give it up
To get off sometimes
You gotta give it up
To get off sometimes I know You'd better stop, stop
Stop using me up
You'd better stop
'Cuz I've had enough
And I'm ready to forget the reasons
That keep me here In the rain you will
Even if you're never gonna change
Good God, you need a little love while
You find what you think you're gonna be, child Now you'd better stop, stop
Stop using me up

You'd better stop
'Cuz I've had enough
And I'm ready to forget the reasons
Oh, the reasons
That keep me here
