Selena

Tony Joe White

The evening falls on Padre Island
Something is wrong, the birds dont fly
They sit quietly in the sand dunes
And watch the skyThey seem to know someone is missing
Even the ocean settles down
They've wait patiently since sunrise
But she dont come aroundSelena, they cry
Without your smile, none of us can fly
Selena, this cant be true
Its gonna be a lonely world without youThere is no one here on this good earth
Who cannot hear the laughter in your song
You made us dance when hearts were heavy
And our feet were made of stoneTime goes by, there is no answer
Its hard to think this moment ever came
So many bow their heads in silence
It dont stop the pain, noSelena, they pray
How could something such as this take you away?
Selena, you were the one
Just when we think its all over
Maybe its just begunSelena, so full of life
You never had a chance to say goodbye
But it will be whispered now and then
And your name will last forever
Riding on the Corpus Cristi windSelena, they pray
Selena, they cry
