

I Want

Face to Face

Well everybody wants the truth
But everybody lies, yeah everybody lies
Well everybody wants some proof
But everybody's blind so open up your eyes Well I really don't know much of anything at all
But I'll admit we're all the same
You ask forgiveness and you make the same mistakes
And I'll admit we're all the same So I say I want to know
Well do these words mean anything?
How can my life
Mean something more than what it seems? Well everybody wants equality
But we're all prejudice, yeah we're all hypocrites
Well everybody wants a world
But we have nothing no we don't have nothing Well I really don't know much of anything at all
But I'll admit we're all the same
You ask forgiveness and you make the same mistakes
But I'll admit we're all the same So I say I want to know
Well do these words mean anything?
How can my life mean something more than what it seems? I want to know
Well do these words mean anything?
How can my life
Mean something more than what it seems?
