

Last Train to San Antone

Peter Green

Written by m.d. green. Last time I saw you - you were standing by the railroad,
You had your suitcase in your hand
I tried to stop you - but I only lost you
On the last train to san antone The minute that your eyes - were captured by his attention
I knew that you would travel far
'n just like a rolling stone
Yeah, you left me here alone
On the last train to san antone San antone, san antone your on your way
You ain't coming home
I lost you baby
Now, there's no place for me to go
On the last train to san antone Break: Now, I see the smoke stack - as it heads for the horizon
And in a moment you'll be gone
Just like that puff a smoke
Yes, you left me here to choke
On the last train to san antone San antone, san antone, you're on your way
You ain't coming home
I lost you baby
Now, there's no place for me to go
On the last train to san antone
Last train - to san antone
